STENOGRAPH

Rehearsal 1240-1535 hours

1. CALLIKAK Error - FLEMING was advised of the goof CALLIKAK made in passing letter intercepts on UJDROWSY's uncle to CAVATA. FLEMING also was told that, for reasons not known to us, CAVATA had expressed a strong interest in continuing to get CALLIKAK coverage on UJDROWSY's uncle. FLEMING expressed his fear that if the matter was not handled properly, CAVATA would trace UPHILL with the danger that the trace request might come to UJDROWSY's attention with all of the attendant difficulties. (See MUNI 5999, MUNI 6051, et. al.)

8. CALLIKAK slip Involving UJDROWSY's Uncle - [] advised FLEMING how we had handled this situation and noted that no further complications were expected. FLEMING said he had yet no trace request had been received from CAVATA - but he said he was sure one would be forthcoming. ADA B-EGMA-55291, 15 June 1961

14. UJDROWSY Claims an Inheritance from aunt in U.S. - For details see MUNI 6157. When on this topic [] raised the question whether or not UPHILL had tried to check on UJDROWSY's bank account. FLEMING said no effort had been made, although the possibility had been considered. FLEMING added it was almost as difficult in the Fed Rep to check on a bank account as it was in Switzerland. FLEMING said a bank account could be checked only on the basis of a court order in connection with a criminal charge and that the real purpose of the various laws on this subject was to make it impossible for banks to give out information that could be used in tax cases. FLEMING also noted that UPHILL was convinced that if UJDROWSY had any really significant amount of money stashed away it would be in a numbered account in Switzerland.
